

I am very concerned about the deregulation of the media. The concentration of ownership into four or five huge international corporations will destroy our democracy by eliminating true political debate and making it easier for lies and propeganda to thrive.